Coastal Oceans Research and Development Indian Ocean (CORDIO)

Description

Coastal Oceans Research and Development Indian Ocean (CORDIO) is a non-profit organization dedicated to improving the health and resilience of marine ecosystems and coastal peoples' well-being in the Western Indian Ocean through research, conservation action, and support to policy and governance. For the last two and half decades, our focus has been on generating science, research, and informational tools that inform and improve marine policies and governance at different levels. Through partnerships, we have managed to ground research within the WIO region and to link science into global research and conservation networks including: Technical inputs to the CBD, the Intergovernmental Science-Policy Platform on Biodiversity and Ecosystem Services (IPBES). Production of legislative guidelines for Locally Managed Marine Areas in Kenya and small-scale fishing gear policy advisories. Our vision is to see healthy coastal and ocean ecosystems that support livelihoods and, we are committed to delivering on this for the benefit of people and ecosystems.
